

It is the year 1942. War is raging across the world!

Welcome here, at the western border of the Nazi-occupied French city of Le Arion. You are currently in Switzerland, more precisely in northwestern Switzerland. As you already know, Hitler and Stalin have occupied almost all of Europe. Both of these men are an equal threat to the future of humanity and freedom. But these problems must be solved one at a time, so let us begin with the most dangerous to us - Adolf Hitler, whose army strengthens its positions in Europe every day. The Nazis are now dangerously close to creating the Third Reich's superweapon "GötterMacht." For several years, Hitler's best engineers, scientists, and archaeologists have been working on its creation. Its operation requires an energy source still unknown to modern science. However, Hitler is not concerned, as his occult division promises him unimaginable miracles. For years, the Nazis have been unraveling the mysteries of the past on a massive scale, both in the desert and elsewhere in the world. Until now, we ignored all of this and even welcomed the fact that Hitler was spending vast resources on these pursuits. But this all changed when their work of recent years in the French city of Le Arion resulted in a major discovery. They found the ruins of a previously unknown civilization and ley lines.

Here I must admit that this does not mean much to me, but after a conversation with our leading archaeologists from Cambridge University, I understand that in your world this is an incomprehensible discovery. What concerns me more is that they are said to have found the key to the Amun-Ra energy system. This was the missing element that most researchers considered a myth. After this discovery, all of Hitler's researchers left Le Arion to return to Egypt, as they believe the next clues and the energy core sought by Hitler are hidden there. This core is a source of eternal energy - the oldest Holy Grail - a force that existed long before the pharaohs and Moses. If the Nazis succeed in accomplishing this, then Hitler's army will become invincible and will rule the world. This must be stopped, and we have a plan. Perhaps it is not as bad as it sounds. As our deeply undercover Agent 8 reports, the next clues are not hidden in the desert, but right there in Le Arion. And that is exactly where you will go. As allies of the British MI6 secret service operating deep undercover, you will carry out one of the most complex missions in the history of the British Empire. This will be a long campaign that will require weeks, months, and perhaps even years. This time will be filled with tension, growth, and success. In a moment, Mission Commander Todd D. Miller will introduce the most important details of this campaign. But as I take my leave, I can say only one thing - let us defeat Hitler and show that freedom always wins. It would be absolutely unacceptable if, after some eighty years, some weak Nazi leader were to appear again and, with his poorly educated army, start a war in Europe. Therefore, let us do everything as it should be done, so that our children have a bright future and future generations can live in peace and freedom. With gratitude for your support and cooperation,

Winston Churchill

Greetings, my trusted comrades in arms!

Here is a more detailed description of the mission. Since the Nazi occultists, a few weeks ago, packed their belongings and, together with an entire army battalion, hastily left Le Arion to return to Cairo, Le Arion is like a ghost city, guarded only by a handful of Hitler's elite soldiers, but this will soon change. Goebbels, with Hitler's blessing, has planned a new future for this city. In the near future, various screenwriters' associations will arrive in the city from all directions, having received a special filmmaker permit issued by Goebbels, to participate in his film competition "Hitler, the Power of God and the Ruler" and, inspired by the ancient civilization, to write the best possible story, which will then be turned into an epic film.

And we will use this Goebbels competition as your cover.

Everything sounds quite simple, but there is a problem, and I will say it directly. Already a week ago, we sent a new and seemingly promising team on this mission. However, ignoring their lack of experience was a major mistake, which has now cost us valuable time and, possibly, the lives of these young people. For too long we have received no information about them, and time is pressing us. Therefore, we are now correcting our mistake and doing what we most likely should have done from the very beginning. We turn to you as our strongest unit and ask you to take on this extremely important task. Although we are confident in your abilities, from now on we refuse to allow even the slightest risk, therefore in the near future we will send a few more screenwriters' units just in case. In your document, in the designated place, write the name of your film association. Step into your assigned role and maintain your cover! Be careful, as we are certain that Nazi spies are not sleeping either!

The task ahead is clear. Go to Le Arion and follow the clues left by Agent 8 to determine the secret communication phrase and his location. Establish contact with him. The correct secret phrase will help you identify him and gain his trust. Your first task is to enter the city through the official Switzerland-France border sector E15. There, find an object created by the sculptor and professor of art Henri La Fontaine. On it, Agent 8 will have left his first clue for you. Start with that! The stakes are high. Do everything properly and take a step toward the destruction of Hitler's war machine!

Mission Commander

Todd D. Miller